SENATOR SYAS: What?

SENATOR F. LEWIS: I am now, I have got it before me. In the study on page 140, there is a bill, and as I understand it from Senator Bereuter that is the specific piece of Legislation that he introduced with the exception of Section 4. Is that correct?

SENATOR SYAS: Well I know what his 835 is, yes. I know what his bill is.

SENATOR F. LEWIS: Is it similar to the....

SENATOR SYAS: It is similar, yes.

SENATOR F. LEWIS: And consistent with the recommendation of the Study Committee.

SENATOR SYAS: You see the trouble with the study is that the fellow gave you so many options.

SENATOR F. LEWIS: I know that that becomes a difficulty.

SENATOR SYAS: That is right. When you have about five options, well then you don't know which road to take.

SENATOR F. LEWIS: Now, Senator Syas, about the study, could I continue? Now about the study that you are going to take, what approach are you going to take to this issue? Do you plan to limit options? Do you plan to study some particular approach or are you....maybe I should say it this way. Is there a problem?

SENATOR SYAS: Evidently there is a problem or there wouldn't be so much smoke.

SENATOR F. LEWIS: Then did you have a solution in mind in terms of....

SENATOR SYAS: Not right at the moment.

SENATOR F. LEWIS: What is going to be the thrust of your study? Is it going to be the....

SENATOR SYAS: The thrust of the study is that we are going to look over these disputed areas and just have them explain to us both sides, what the controversy is all about. There is nothing like seeing, seeing is better than....a picture is better than a thousand words.

SENATOR F. LEWIS: I heard that once.

SENATOR SYAS: Now we will take a look and see just who can justify what they are doing. Now, maybe the Game Commission is wrong on this, I don't know. But we have laid hands off of it, the committee has previously, because....

SENATOR F. LEWIS: Could I get in another question at this point in time? I didn't want you using so much of my time George, enough is enough. In other words your study is going to be simply to go to Ft. Robinson and try to resolve an issue?
